DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-29, 32 and 33, drawn to a nucleic acid comprising a promoter and a set of recombination sites oriented so that transcription is increased after the recombinase acts on the recombinase sites, a vector, a cell, and an organism.

Group II, claim(s) 30 and 31, drawn to a nucleic acid comprising a promoter and on member of a recombination set oriented so that transcription is increased after the recombinase acts on the recombinase set.

Group III, claim(s) 34, drawn to a nucleic acid comprising a promoter and a set of recombination sites oriented so that transcription is repressed after the recombinase acts on the recombinase sites.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature is a nucleic acid comprising a promoter and on member of a recombination set oriented so that transcription is increased after the recombinase acts on the recombinase set. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art.

The claims lack unity of invention because Applicants' invention is not novel. Passegue et al (Nature Genetics 30: 158-166, 2002, specifically figure 1 and p. 162) teach a knockout mouse with the Jun gene replaced with the Junb gene. As shown in figure 1, the Cre-lox system is used. Recombination occurs and JunB replaces Jun. Junb uses the Jun promoter. Also, Junb causes increased transcription of Ccnd1.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species RNAP III promoter sequence set forth in SEQ ID NOs: 9-14 and a nucleic acid sequence set forth in SEQ ID NOs: 3-8. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 19 and 32 are generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Michele K. Joike, Ph.D. whose telephone number is 571-272-5915. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F, 9:00-6:30.
